Chattanooga, Tenn., March 17.—Several thousand persons hung around a loathsome corner at 11th and B streets for several hours yesterday afternoon waiting for Madame Sarah Bernhart to come and lay the cornerstone of a theater which it is proposed to erect there. The exercises were scheduled for 3 o'clock, and the crowd waited until 6 o'clock in the hope that the actress would put in an appearance. Meanwhile the "Divine" Sarah was in her cozy private car, where she was well sheltered from the bitter March winds. The only reason she gave for not participating in the exercises was that it was too cold. The proposed theater is one of the Schubert string.

Why the City Has to Pay.

The opinion of the appellate court in the case of E. C. Terrell against the Paducah Mill and Elevator Co., Marine Ways Co. and city of Paducah was received by local attorneys this morning. Contractor Terrell built a street to the water's edge on Washington street and the circuit court decided property owners liable for the cost of a certain portion, the pavement portion which was gravelled, but held that the city was not liable for the balance knocking the contractor out of part of his money. The appellate court holds that the city was liable for the remainder of the costs because the improvement was really a wharf. The judgment compels the city to pay over about $500, the balance of the money due on the contract.

Mr. Jacob Oehlslaeger is again quite ill.

THE SPENDERS

Webster would tell us that the phrase means those who spend, and that is precisely what it does mean in this case. It is the third generation spending the money of a money-maker. The story is told in our new serial entitled:

The Spenders

By HARRY LEON WILSON
Author of "Lions of the Lord," Etc.

It is the kind of a story in which every one of our readers will be interested. There is not a dull line in the entire story. It is a story of which the Louisville Courier-Journal says:

"If there is such a thing as the American novel of a new method, this is one. Absolutely to be enjoyed from the first line to the last."
